Home Energy Assessments

Did you know? Understanding how your home uses energy can help you save money. Professional home energy assessments are available in Salida to help you identify opportunities to improve the efficiency of your home, including no- and low- cost measures with savings that can really add up.

Salida residents have two options for Home Energy Assessments: Energy Smart Colorado, and Xcel Energy's Home Energy Squad® program.

Energy Smart Colorado

Energy Smart Colorado can connect you with local certified energy analysts to visit your home and complete a detailed home energy assessment including:

- Air leak analysis with a blower door diagnostic test and infrared imaging analysis
- Gas line leak detection and carbon monoxide safety analysis
- Analysts may install "quick fixes" like LEDs, programmable thermostats or kitchen faucet aerators, low flow showerheads, pipe wrap, or a water heater blanket at no cost to you
- Inspection of home exterior, insulation and mechanical systems
- Comprehensive written report with assessment findings, recommendations and advising

For a limited time, the City of Salida is offering Energy Smart Colorado assessments at a discounted price of $100. They can also connect you with eligible utility rebates. Visit energysmartcolorado.org to learn more, and to schedule your home assessment.

Home Energy Squad

Xcel Energy's Home Energy Squad has two products to choose from. A standard visit is FREE and includes:

-  Replacing showerheads with energy-efficient models
-  Weather-stripping a drafty, exterior door
-  Switching out traditional, incandescent bulbs for LEDs
-  Adding aerators to your kitchen and bathroom faucets

A Home Energy Squad Plus visit (normally $150 and now $100) includes all of the above PLUS:

-  Inspection of home exterior, insulation and mechanical systems
-  Air leak analysis with a blower door diagnostic test and infrared imaging analysis
-  Full summary report with findings, recommendations and advising
